March Madness

EDITOR'S NOTES

I really love this time of year. March Madness (and some of the money I have on the line) makes every game like watching the Super Bowl.

Oh, how it gets my heart racing!

Now...the most amazing thing happened this month. The return of Nickell and photos of her with Angel Lee. These are two ladies that we have been featuring since the beginning. I have waited and wanted for this moment to happen for so long. I can't convey the impact that seeing both of these ladies that have meant so much to TFM...together. From a publisher's point of view - it was almost spiritual and I mean that. Thanks Eddie.

We also have a newbie thanks to Richard Rendon. Hollie Earle was out pick for Model of the Month, I'm sure you will see a lot more of her in the future.

We put together our list of the Top College Hoopsters of All-Time.

Marty McKee does it again with two amazing pictorials. There's another newbie - Antoinette and fan fav Jenna.

Enjoy the games, try not to get too excited and we'll see you next month.

That said...on to the next one!

Top Gossip

This is definitely some next level shit. The amazing new and improved Bruce Jenner aka Caitlyn is now an official MAC girl.

The cosmetic giant will be releasing a limited edition lip stick inspired by Caitlin, the color will be called Finally Free.

Cash from the sales will be donated to the MAC AIDS Fund Transgender Initiative.

Caitlyn joins Nicki Minaj, Rihanna, Lady Gaga and Pamela Anderson with their own signature colors.

Kesha is suing her producer Dr. Luke for sexual assault and battery, that she claims has gone on for over a decade.

The story became big gossip after Taylor Swift dropped a nice $250K on Kesha to help pay for legal battles.

Since then, she has had folks gathering outside of Sony protesting and other celebs who have come out to "stand" with Kesha.

The suit claims Dr. Luke whose real name is Lukasz Gottwald was "sexually, physically, verbally and emotionally abused" her over the past decade that has "put her life at risk."

STORY OF THE MONTH

I don't normally give Beyonce a lot of credit but DAMN IT she put on one hell of a Super Bowl Halftime performance. It was heaps and bunches better than her Super Bowl XLVII self serving performance.

Then I wake up the next day and the world had lost their mind. Beyonce was accused of promoting the Black Panther Party and showing some Black Pride - Oh shit, that can't fucking happen!

Now, we have some asshole PIGS (Black Panther term) refusing to provide security services for Beyonce concerts - are you fucking kidding me? All, I have to say to those of you that were offended by Beyonce's performance is...GROW UP! As far as the PIGS that want to boycott Beyonce, I suggest you start with the Klan.

GENEVA

She's back!!!

This month Geneva was kind enough to do a behind the scenes aka selfie for our basketball theme.

I'm a Laker fan myself but there are a few former Sacramento players that I'm into - namely Chris Webber. My main man from Michigan. I was a fan of the Fab Five, though I bleed scarlet and gray. I'm almost ashamed to admit it but it is what it is. Anywho - no one almost wears a Kings jersey better than Geneva.

Top Floor Magazine answers the questions submitted to the Playboy Advisor

My father cheated, my friends cheat and I am ashamed to say that I have cheated. I do not want to cheat anymore. Is there a medical procedure to curb my appetites? Would having a testicle removed do anything? - D.S., San Diego, California

No, but removing your brain will. There is really nothing that you can do to curb your appetite. That's how our species survives. Trying to figure out how to stop having sex would be like trying to figure out how to stop breathing - you don't want to remove one of your lungs do you? The problem is not sex, it's the cheating. That's easily resolved with simple honesty. That's not to say that you have to steer clear of relationships but you have to lay the ground rules in the beginning - "Hey I like to fuck a variety of women". If your potential partner isn't ok with that then you move on to next one until you find someone who is. That way you can go on living with both of your nuts.

My girlfriend stares at other men's crotches. I confronted her and she acted dumbfounded. She works in a place where all the guys wear dress pants. I know from experience that if you look at a man's crotch when he's in slacks you can sometimes see the outline of his penis, including the head and how long it hangs. Is this normal behavior for women? - M.T., Macon, Georgia

Well, I certainly hope so - hold on while I go out and purchase some tighter slacks...Ok, I'm back. I have to say that you need to get a grip my friend. What too many of us men don't realize is that if we try to confront behaviors in our love mates UNLESS WE ARE ATTACHED TO THEM AT THE HIP there's no way to stop that behavior when we're not around. So lest she stares at a guy's cock then runs up to him, grabs it and performs a seriously nasty, intense deep throat...let her look all she wants.

Miss January 1996 Victoria Fuller is both the subject and the creator of some of Miss March is on the phone from Miami. Despite repeated interruptions from call waiting (the efforts of an ex-boyfriend whom she says she's ignoring), she merrily tells her story.

"I was in a beauty pageant when I was 15 or 16," says Priscilla Taylor. "When the emcee asked me who I would be if I could be anyone in the world, I said 'Cleopatra.' 'Why?' he asked. And I said, 'I just want to rule!'" - Playboy.com

By Stephanie Rose

Finally we reach March, through the Winter and we welcome Spring. March is one of my favorite months, Along with having St. Patrick's Day and the 1st day of Spring, it is also MY Birthday month. Speaking of birthdays...have you ever noticed in television and movies they never sing the Happy Birthday song as we all know and sing each year. Ever wonder why?

In 1893 two sisters Mildred and Patty Hill compose "Good Morning to All". By 1911 the word birthday started sneaking into the song for parties and birthdays.

1924 the sing hit print and published as "Happy Birthday".

1931 the song hit screens and stages everywhere.

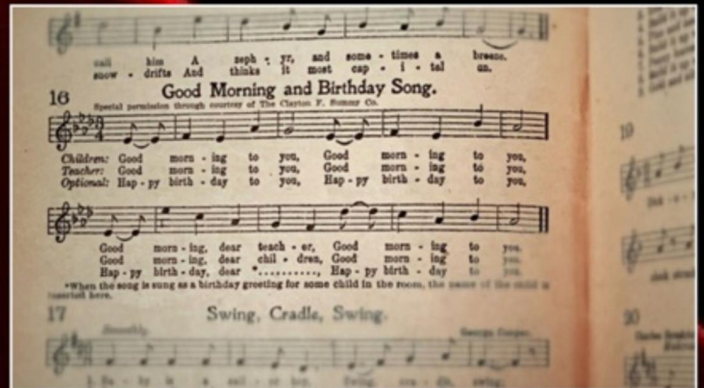

By 1934 the third Hill sister Jessica secured a copyright meaning they would get royalties when the song is played or sang. Which is why for the LONGEST time you would never hear it in movies and such. September 15th 2015 "Happy Birthday" was declared public domain and royalty free. In the future we may see it a lot more in television and movies. I'm just glad they didn't charge me whenever I sang it. When it all comes down to it all that matters is that you are there for your loved ones during their celebrations.

Happy Spring, and Happy Birthday to me and all fellow March birthday peeps.

Love,

HOTTIE OF THE MONTH Megyn Kelly

Megyn Marie Kelly, formerly known as Megyn Kendall, is a journalist, former attorney, news pundit, and political commentator on the Fox News Channel.

Kelly was an associate in the Chicago office of law firm Bickel & Brewer LLP, during which time she co-wrote an article for the American Bar Association's journal, Litigation, called "The Conflicting Roles of Lawyer as Director". She later joined Jones Day for nine years, where one of her clients was the credit bureau Experian.

Marie Lihn Vu Takeover - Important requirements of the Fashion Industry

Height and size are very important to all models in the fashion industry. They are traditional way for agencies in model castings to find new faces. In the 70's, we could see curvy models in the catwalk, example Claudia Schiffer with attractive curves. Later in the 80's and the 90's, new requirement about models beauty has appeared. That is called "heroine chick". It means models have to be tall and skinny. Twiggy's appearance is the first model of this style with 5'7 tall and 105 lbs weight.

She has changed very much about modeling requirements in the industry. Later Kate Moss and other models have followed Twiggy.

Many girls who wanted to be supermodels tried many ways to look like them. It seemed being tall and skinny has become the most attractive movement to ladies. Nowadays mostly agencies still use that height requirement for casting new faces, still ladies from 5'7 to 6'0.

Sometimes people have asked a question "How can short ladies make their dream come true if they want to be models?"

That question is right when people's traditional thought about modeling is always tall and skinny. But nothing can't be changed, the fashion industry is changing in a positive way.

More different types of models have appeared in the industry, they are plus size models and petite models.

Different kinds of modeling jobs has been appeared too, as commercial print modeling, body part modeling, glamour modeling and nude art modeling.

The requirements about height and sizes has been changed better than the 80's and the 90's in the 20th century.

New kinds of models have brought a new wave to ladies, that's being healthy.

Models don't need to be above 5'7 tall and so skinny at all, some models under 5'7 still become famous models.

So what's the beauty requirement right now?

It is a healthy beauty and all ladies can be confident about who they are. Models don't need only good looking and beautiful, they need to have a great personality to keep the important place in the industry. As the nice saying about beauty "The great personality is better than being beautiful".

OTHER MODELS THAT HAVE BROKEN THE MOLD

Her mole managed to work it's way past the land of imperfection into what would make Cindy one of the most successful models of our generation.

Georgia Jagger

She took the gap teeth look to another level. Proving the sexy doesn't come with perfect teeth.

Ashley Graham

Ashley put plus size on the map after her feature in Sports Illustrated.

Marie Lihn Vu is a contributing writer for TFM from Hanoi, Vietnam. She is also a freelance model that speaks four languages! You can contact her @ <https://www.facebook.com/Cinderellabuhler>

Thanks Marie for filling in for HW this month!!!

Nickell

The Queen

Photography courtesy of ImagesbyMagic

WorldMags.net

Queen

kwēn/

A woman that is foremost or preeminent in any respect.

The definition fits Nickell like chocolate and peanut butter in a Reese's cup.

But for the purposes of the following story I'm about to tell, I will refer to her as Nickell.

As the story goes, there was this publisher who came across this Princess of a model. He promoted and published her frequently over several years.

She had taken control of his space and others had began to notice him and his publications. Yes, she had taken complete control of his kingdom.

There were others but no one seemed to have the same impact of Nickell.

Then just as quickly as she came...she was gone.

She was never completely gone from the publications. In fact, the two of them kept in touch from time to time but the publisher knew that she had moved on, using her powers to help establish other empires across the land.

Then came news that she was returning. The two had agreed that she would again take her rightful place upon the cover of his magazine.

But the material never came through.

Despite their best efforts the Internet God's had shown them that it was just not meant to be.

So the publisher waited...

He waited one day. And two days. And ten. And then twenty. And one evening, Nickell looked onto her Facebook and found had crowned her as The Queen of TFM. Yet, during rain, during wind, during snow, he awaited her return. There were others that were worthy of challenging her crown but he always turned them away. After ninety nights, he had become confused and disoriented, wondering why the Internet Gods were being so cruel! The frustration could be seen in his eyes. He could no longer hide it, He no longer had the strength. All that time, he knew that Nickell was still watching.

Then on the 99th night...she returned.

So without further adieu I bring you our interview with Nickell - The Queen of TFM

TFM: You've been the uncrowned Queen of Top Floor Magazine for several years, what have you been up to professionally since the last time we interviewed you (2009)?

Nickell: I modeled here and there but mainly was being mom and working as a paralegal.

When it comes to your portfolio, you're like a chameleon. You're style seems to vary from shoot to shoot and you never look out of place. I've even seen the photo for the insurance company. What advice could you give young models when it comes to not getting stuck in one style of modeling?

I would say know What you want to do and do not let anyone make you do something your not comfortable with. But theres so many different types of modeling that there's a lot to learn and a lot of fun to be had. Step out of your box but not over your boundaries.

The first time we featured you was about six or seven years ago and you haven't changed a bit, what are you eating and how do you stay in such great shape?

I do work out but not very much lately. I do eat healthy but i don't think twice about eating whatever I want, but i do have a taste for the healthy stuff thanks to my mom. I'm like a kid when it comes to I've cream. But the thing that will age you the fastest is drugs and stress.

You've been modeling for a while, how did you get your start?

I started by accident back (on) Myspace. A designer sent a message saying that a model flaked last minute and would I like to fill in. I told him I never did this before but he didn't care. I went to the fashion show and have been hooked ever since.

What can you remember about your first photo shoot?

My first shoot wasn't a very pleasant experience. It turned out to be a pervert behind a camera. I ended up leaving the studio scared and mad at the same time. But i went home and did My research and learned a good lesson.

In the modeling world, what does it take to continue to get assignments?

Consistency. You need to always look for work. I was with an agency and found myself more assignments then they found me. But it is truly a passion so I really Enjoy modeling.

What are some of the magazines that you've appeared in?

Glam couture, Damn Girl, 4Cast a few online magazines and in still finding out about some i didn't know about. I didn't know I was in the Hyundai ad until a friend told me she saw me on the ad.

Other than modeling, what are some of your other ambitions?

I don't live to work, I work to live. My kids are everything and I want to travel more.

If you could switch placed with any celebrity or public figure, who would it be?

None of them. I wouldn't want that life ever.

What's the one thing about you that you want to make sure everyone knows?

I'm truly a Tom boy.

Your page says that you're single...Happy single or actively looking?

Happily single. When I come across him then I do but definitely not looking. God has all that planned out so I'm just chilling.

What do you look for in a man?

At this point in my life I appreciate honestly and loyalty. I can work thru anything with you if you communicate with me. I don't deal with liars or cheaters.

What do you consider your greatest asset?

My honesty. Whether people realize it at first or not, you always appreciate the truth.

What part of your body do you consider perfect and what would you change?

I'm perfectly flawed. I love my scars. I've always thought scars are sexy and always have a interesting story. I would change nothing. I used to want boobs but I'm so glad I didn't get them.

Okay...Playboy time!

Turn ons?

Confident not cocky. Nice smile and not hairy.

Turn offs?

Stinky breath bragging and materialistic men.

What do you love about California?

The weather weed and whereabouts. I'm born and raised in Cali.

What do you hate?

The politicians and gas prices.

What's the last song you listened to?

Tupac was on the radio.

People say you look like?

Just someone they know. Or I look like their niece.

Thanks Nickell!!!

College Duke (2002–2006)

NBA draft 2006 / Round: 1 / Pick: 11th overall

Redick dropped 30 during his freshman year, leading Duke to a victory in the ACC championship v. North Carolina. In the 2004-05 season he lead Duke in scoring averaging 21.8 points per game. He finished his career with an amazing 91.1 free-throw percentage.

10 HANK GATHERS

High school Dobbins Technical
(Philadelphia, Pennsylvania)

College USC (1985–1986)
Loyola Marymount (1987–1990)

One of college basketball's tragic stories. After starting his college career at USC, Gathers - the story varies on what exactly happened - found himself at Loyola. Despite having a heart condition he continued to play for Loyola until he collapsed after a tomahawk dunk during a game v. the Portland Pilots. He passed away later that evening.

9 LIONEL SIMMONS

High school South Philadelphia
(Philadelphia, Pennsylvania)

College La Salle (1986–1990)

NBA draft 1990 / Round: 1 / Pick: 7th overall

Simmons is third in all-time NCAA career points with 3,217 and trails only Pete Maravich and Freeman Williams. Simmons became the only player in NCAA history to score more than 3,000 points and pull down more than 1,100 rebounds.

8 LEN BIAS

High school Northwestern (Hyattsville, Maryland)

College Maryland (1982–1986)

NBA draft 1986 / Round: 1 / Pick: 2nd overall

In his junior year, he led the ACC in scoring and was named the ACC's Player of the Year. Celtics scout Ed Badger compared Bias to then Chicago Bull's guard Michael Jordan. "I'm not saying he's as good as Michael Jordan, but he's an explosive and exciting kind of player like that." The Celtics drafted Bias and he passed away the morning after signing day.

7 BILL WALTON

High school Helix (La Mesa, California)

College UCLA (1971–1974)

NBA draft 1974 / Round: 1 / Pick: 1st overall

The three time college player of the year lead UCLA to two consecutive 30–0 seasons and was also part of UCLA's NCAA men's basketball record 88-game winning streak. He went on to become one of the NBA's worst commentators. lol

6 DAVID THOMPSON

High school Crest (Shelby, North Carolina)

College NC State (1972–1975)

NBA draft 1975 / Round: 1 / Pick: 1st overall

After leading North Carolina State University to an undefeated season (27–0) in 1973, he then led the Wolfpack to the NCAA Men's Division I Basketball Championship in 1974, defeating the reigning national champions UCLA. Thompson and teammate Monte Towe are credited for inventing the alley-oop pass, utilizing Thompson's leaping ability.

5 CHRISTIAN LAETTNER

High school Nichols School (Buffalo, New York)

College Duke (1988–1992)

NBA draft 1992 / Round: 1 / Pick: 3rd overall

Everybody hates Chris. As Duke's star player his final two seasons, he led them to the first two national titles in school history. Out of the 24 possible tournament games during his college career, Laettner played in 23 and won 21. And yes, he stomped on Kentucky player Aminu Timberlake.

Which is why we hate him. lol

4 RALPH SAMPSON

High school Harrisonburg (Harrisonburg, Virginia)

College Virginia (1979–1983)

NBA draft 1983 / Round: 1 / Pick: 1st overall

My Dad really liked this guy. At 7'4", Sampson was chosen college player of the year three times and lead Virginia to an NIT title but only managed to make it to the Final Four in the NCAA championship tournament. He was also a three time ACC Player of the Year.

3 PETE MARAVICH

High school Daniel (Central, South Carolina)
Broughton (Raleigh, North Carolina)
Edwards Military Institute
(Salemberg, North Carolina)

College LSU (1967–1970)

NBA draft 1970 / Round: 1 / Pick: 3rd overall

Pistol Pete! In his first game Maravich put up 50 points, 14 rebounds and 11 assists against Southeastern Louisiana College. 'nuff said!

2 STACEY AUGMON

High school Emsley A. Laney
(Wilmington, North Carolina)

College North Carolina (1981–1984)

NBA draft 1984 / Round: 1 / Pick: 3rd overall

ACC Freshman of the Year after he averaged 13.4 points per game (ppg) on 53.4% shooting. He made the game-winning jump shot in the 1982 NCAA Championship game against Georgetown fueling an NBA career where he was a slightly above average player for the Chicago Bulls. lol

1 LEW ALCINDOR aka KAREEM ABDUL JABBAR

High school Power Memorial (Manhattan, New York)

College UCLA (1966–1969)

NBA draft 1969 / Round: 1 / Pick: 1st overall

In his very first game...he dropped 56 points. From 1967–69, he played under coach John Wooden, contributing to the team's three-year record of 88 wins and only two losses. Alcindor was twice named Player of the Year (1967, 1969); was a three-time First Team All-American (1967–69); played on three NCAA basketball champion teams (1967, 1968 and 1969); was honored as the Most Outstanding Player in the NCAA Tournament (1967, 1968, 1969); and became the first-ever Naismith College Player of the Year in 1969. Alcindor became the only player to win the Helms Foundation Player of the Year award three times. He was one of only 4 players to have started on 3 NCAA championship teams. The Captain.

Publisher's Picks

There is truly a method to my madness. Unfortunately, it usually starts about a week before the tournament. I watch the championship games - see whose hurt, which teams have that X-factor and what underdogs are barking the loudest. Then I listen to the experts, throw all that shit out the window and make my picks. I wish I had the time and patience to go deeper into trying to solve the March Madness algorithm but I'm 4-2 in the office brackets and undefeated in the family brackets, so...I think what I'm doing is working.—D.
